Ohio Curtails Road Building

Projects Involving U.S. Money Shelved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No more road-building contracts involving federal money will be let by the Highway Department, Director Everett S. Preston told contractors today.

In a statement before the year's eighth bid-opening, Preston declared the suspension will be in effect "until there is assurance from Congress that the federal government will meet its commitments when the state presents vouchers for reimbursement."

The suspension affects interstate, primary, secondary and urban federal aid projects.

Congress failed to provide money for fiscal 1961 at the normal time last month, Preston said, and "still has not approved legislation assuring Ohio of new federal funds the state can program against."

Without congressional action, he went on, it's unlikely the federal government can pay its full share of federal aid projects already under contract in Ohio and other states.

"Ohio will meet these obligations with its own funds if it becomes necessary," Preston promised, "but the threat of this occurrence forces the Highway Department into a complete reappraisal of its entire program."

"If Congress does not act, it means no further federal aid projects will be put under contract for probably a year, and a reduction from 300 million dollars to a 75-150 million construction program."

Ohio has already committed about 40 million dollars which it expected to be repaid in the fiscal 1961 allocation, the director explained.

"Ohio's share of allocations contemplated in a bill recommended by the House Ways and Means Committee last week no more than covers these advances, meaning no new interstate money for Ohio until fiscal 1962 (that is, after July 1, 1961)," Preston said.

Ex-Marine Jekyll-Hyde Shot by Cops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Grand-scale business promoter by day, robber, posing as a policeman, by night.

That's the double life police say was lived by Daniel M. Snyder, ex-Marine, art lover, and man about town.

His honest path by day and dishonest path by night came to light after police had shot him to death during a drugstore holdup.

Officers said Snyder, 40, who wore elevator shoes to increase his 5-foot-7 stature, called himself Police Sgt. Cain L. Wood and carried a detective sergeant's badge that was a remarkably accurate duplicate of the real thing. He held up two markets and got away with $38,000.

By day he moved in high financial circles and was regarded as a shrewd investor with apparently unlimited income. He had no criminal record.

Sunday night he entered a drugstore, flashed his detective badge and told the manager, "I'm here to prevent a robbery."

The manager recognized Snyder from descriptions of the man who had robbed two markets. He tripped a silent burglar alarm. Officers arrived. Snyder bolted for the back door, then turned on the officers, gun in hand. They fired first.

Labor Control Battle Brews

House Set To Hold Wide Open Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wide-open floor battle over labor control legislation was indicated today as the House Rules Committee called hearings to determine procedure.

Without working over the legislation itself, the committee decides on debate limits, the extent of amendments to be allowed, and ground rules which play a big part in shaping House action on bills.

Before it was a bill approved 16-14 by the House Labor Committee but opposed by many who wanted it changed on the House floor.

The committee consequently was expected to send the bill to the floor wide-open to amendment to satisfy members who contend it is too weak and needs strengthening, and others who say it is too tough and needs toning down.

The Rules Committee, under pressure to get the bill before the House this week, suspended hearings on other legislation to give it priority.

As it came from the Labor Committee, the measure eased many restrictions of the Senate-passed bill but followed that bill's general pattern.

It would ban "hot cargo" clauses in union contracts and extortion picketing. A modified labor "bill of rights" is included, but without the criminal penalties the Senate voted for violations. The bill would require unions to make extensive financial reports and would require the National Labor Relations Board to take jurisdiction in all labor dispute cases. The board may now decline jurisdiction in small cases, and the states are prohibited from acting.

Its strongest and most influential backing came Monday from Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who declared: "I think it does a splendid job." Rayburn said the Labor Committee bill "covers racketeering in a fine fashion."

But only five of the 30 Labor Committee members had a good word to say for it. The others said it would be too tough on labor, or not tough enough.

Khrush Info Drive Asked By Sparkman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) proposed today a campaign for public understanding to insure a safe and courteous U.S. reception for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was among a majority on Capitol Hill who applauded President Eisenhower's decision to exchange visits with the Soviet leaders.

Sparkman, like a majority of those who commented, voiced the hope that out of the exchange of visits could come understanding that might ease the many tensions that threatened world peace.

"I think one of the real problems is to insure a safe and courteous reception for Khrushchev," Sparkman told a reporter. "We don't like what he stands for, but we should never give up trying to convince him that this country is united behind the President in any effort he makes to find ways to peace."

Sparkman voiced hope that editorial writers, news commentators and others who help mold public opinion will join in helping prepare a favorable climate for Khrushchev's reception next month.

Court Halts Boyer & Son Home Construction Here

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court today granted a temporary restraining order against a Chillicothe construction firm and six local land owners.

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer ordered Boyer & Son, Chillicothe housing contractor, to refrain from further home construction on Georgia Road. Boyer & Son was in the process of erecting seven homes on Georgia Road, one for themselves and six for local residents. The restraining order was requested by City Solicitor Robert H. Huffer.

Huffer's petition stated that Boyer & Son and the six land owners were in violation of the city's zoning ordinance. Huffer cited the defendants for violating the zoning ordinance provision that houses must be set back 60 feet from the center of a street that is 40 per cent or more complete.

* * *

HUFFER reiterated his stand last week when he said, "The city will stand firm on its refusal to allow Boyer & Son to continue building homes on Georgia Road until they comply with the city zoning ordinance."

The matter was first brought to light at City Council's last meeting in July when a dozen or more residents of the Northridge and Georgia Road areas complained directly to Council members of the ordinance violation.

According to City Zoning and Planning head J. Ludwig Haeker, Boyer & Son are building homes only 20 feet back from the curb. Residents also complained of Boyer errecting basements high out of the ground.

The first house under roof, which is owned by Boyer & Son, is six blocks out of the ground and was recently graded. The grade is at least four feet above the ground of the adjoining lot, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Bach, 369 Northridge Road.

Plans to build the giant eye were announced today by Stanford University and the Stanford Research Institute.

The telescope will have a big, dish-shaped antenna 142 feet in diameter and will stand as tall as a 15-story building. In size, the antenna will be second only to the 250-foot dish at Jodrell Banks in England.

Jodrell mainly tunes in on radio noises coming from distant parts of the heavens, or radio signals from earth satellites.

The Stanford eye primarily will be used to broadcast radar signals, getting back their echoes, for valuable new explorations of the sun and its planetary family. Its radio transmitter will require a million-watt power supply.

Death Penalties For Rapists Asked

LAGRANGE, Ga. (AP) — The state will demand the death penalty for three Negroes accused of raping two white women last Saturday, Solicitor General Wright Lipford said Monday.

The grand jury, which included one Negro, returned two indictments in the case Monday. The first charges Clifford Johnson, 32, Brannon Epps, 24, and George Alford Jr., 18, with raping one of the women. The other indictment charges Epps and Alford with raping the other victim.

Dr. Clyde J. Kennedy, who also is pastor of the Bible Presbyterian Church, located on Gunsmoke street, are unhappy about the street name and think Joylight would be better.

But the folks over on Maverick street like Gunsmoke and object to any change.

The County Board decided to think over the matter.

2 Other Campers Suffer from Burns

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lightning struck in the midst of a group of Girl Scout campers before dawn today, killing two and injuring two.

Dead are Sally Parker, 14, of Cleveland Heights, and June Gamble, 13, of Medina, Pa.

Injured are Marilyn Featherston, 13, of Walton Hills, and Lynn Wiesenberger, 12, of Rocky River. The Featherston girl was treated for knee burns and released from Medina Community Hospital. Miss Wiesenberger was in good condition with stomach burns.

The four girls were camped side-by-side, two in each tent, at Camp Julia Crowell near West Richfield, in the northwest corner of Summit County. It is along Ohio 303.

Lightning struck a nearby tree and glanced into the two tents, camp officials said.

One of the dead girls—officials refused to say which one—was standing in the doorway of her tent. Apparently she was awakened by the violent thunderstorm which struck shortly after 3 a.m. (EST). The lightning struck her in the forehead.

The other girls were asleep. Miss Ruth Kirkpatrick, in charge of the camp where 125 girls are staying, said counselors were awakened by a loud crack, probably when the lightning struck the tree.

They immediately checked the tents and found the two girls in one tent were dead and the two in another were injured.

Wide Areas Get Spate Of Showers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showery weather was on tap for widely scattered areas today after a night of rain and thunderstorms in many sections of the country.

Rainfall during the night was light in most places. The biggest belt of precipitation was over the southern Great Lakes region, with scattered showers southeastward into western sections of Virginia and North Carolina.

Thundershows also rumbled across widely scattered areas northward, extending through the northern Great Lakes region and into the upper Mississippi Valley.

A similar wet pattern was reported from the southern plateau states across the southern Rockies and northward into parts of Kansas and Nebraska.

A severe electrical storm struck the Little Falls region, in north central Minnesota, Monday night, injuring at least 10 persons. Most of the injured were from Camp Ripley, National Guard training center where some 15,000 troops from Missouri and Kansas are bivouacked. Three men were hospitalized as winds up to 80 m.p.h. flattened tents.

Temperatures in the 70s were the rule in most areas except the 50s near Pacific coastal areas and in New England, and the 60s from the upper Mississippi Valley across the Great Lakes region into Pennsylvania.

Churchman Deplores Invitation to Khrush

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower's invitation for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit the United States has drawn a protest from the president of the American Council of Christian Churches.

One new law allows life insurance companies to loan up to 75 per cent of actual market value in the purchase of a single home. The old limit was 66 2/3 per cent.

They said less legislation affecting insurance firms was passed than in any recent session within their memory.

Giant Scope To Peer into Far Space

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A giant new radar telescope—second largest in the world—will be built here to explore secrets of space, sun and planets.

This huge eye can boldly peer through the foggy veil worn by Venus for revealing discoveries about that coy planet.

Scientists also hope it can tell how dusty the moon is, yield more facts about the sun, and accurately measure distances to other planets.

Right now such distances are so uncertain that space travelers from earth might miss Mars by 200,000 miles.

Plans to build the giant eye were announced today by Stanford University and the Stanford Research Institute.

DiSalle said public hearings should be provided for before allowing automobile damage and liability rate increases such as those of last Dec. 31.

Hiking Grandma About Give Out, May Miss Goal

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP)—The walking grandma from Ohio, Mrs. Emma Gatewood, appeared today as if she might give up a 2,000-mile trek over the old Oregon Trail only 72 miles short of her destination.

Mrs. Gatewood, 71, Monday accepted a ride 10 miles east of here and an invitation to rest at the home of an unidentified woman from The Dalles after a brush with a welcoming committee.

Mrs. Gatewood, who declined to have any part in a civic reception planned for her at this Columbia River community 62 miles east of Portland, said she felt like a "sideshow freak."

The Gallipolis, Ohio, woman was fatigued and apparently near physical exhaustion. Her plans about continuing were uncertain.

Mrs. Gatewood left Independence, Mo., in May headed for Portland for a look at the Oregon Centennial Exposition. She had been making as much as 30 miles a day, refusing all rides en route.

Hiking Grandma About Give Out, May Miss Goal

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP)—The walking grandma from Ohio, Mrs. Emma Gatewood, appeared today as if she might give up a 2,000-mile trek over the old Oregon Trail only 72 miles short of her destination.

Mrs. Gatewood, 71, Monday accepted a ride 10 miles east of here and an invitation to rest at the home of an unidentified woman from The Dalles after a brush with a welcoming committee.

Mrs. Gatewood, who declined to have any part in a civic reception planned for her at this Columbia River community 62 miles east of Portland, said she felt like a "sideshow freak."

The Gallipolis, Ohio, woman was fatigued and apparently near physical exhaustion. Her plans about continuing were uncertain.

Downtown Toledo Creates Mall To Retain Business

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Downtown Toledo, fighting to hold its retail business from the lure of shopping centers in the outskirts, is using some of the tricks of its suburban rivals.

The city began Monday a 45-day trial of four downtown pedestrian malls, complete with grass, trees, flowering shrubs, blooming flowers, benches, and a playground for the kiddies.

And to top what the shopping centers offer, the malls include an elongated pool containing five penguins from the Toledo Zoo and 13 other spots statuary from the Toledo Museum of Art.

All this where only four days ago were only asphalt, cement, brick and the busy bustle of vehicular traffic.

Thousands of Toledoans responded as the malls officially opened, milling through the four-block area, and, as was hoped, dropping in at the stores around it to browse and buy.

Inspector Frank Baumgartner, head of the Police Traffic Bureau, said traffic on the rims of the

Deputies Busy Investigating Road Crashes

A report released today by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department disclosed that 12 accidents were investigated here by deputies during the weekend.

Instead of letting the plan gather dust, why not give the mall feature of the plans an immediate trial?

City Council endorsed the idea and appropriated $15,000 for the project. Skeldon wanted the county to contribute $10,000, but the Ohio attorney general held that would be illegal.

After the 45-day trial, mall proponents will appraise the value of the downtown center. If it has been a success, if the shopping center indicates a continued trend toward downtown stores, city and county officials will begin planning for a permanent and more elaborate mall system.

An exhibit in one of the malls depicts Toledo's hopes for the future. It is a 67-square-foot model showing downtown Toledo as the architects would like to see it.

The drab river front is converted into a downtown park traversed by an expressway. A Skid Row section has been redeveloped with middle income and luxury apartments. Many existing buildings have been renovated. There is a new auditorium and many other features.

These of course still are dreams. But, with its trial runs, Toledo now has a foot in Dreamland.

The accident span started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight Sunday. Deputy Robert Hoover said eight persons were injured in the 12 crashes. Four of the persons were taken to Berger Hospital and four received first aid at the scene or were referred to doctors.

NATO: How Much of a Bulwark?

North Atlantic Pact Opens 2nd Decade of Operations

Editor's Note—As the North Atlantic Treaty Organization enters its second decade, just how much of a bulwark is it? Here is the first of four on-the-spot reports.

By BEM PRICE

PARIS (AP)—For 10 years now the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been looked upon as the sword and shield of Europe. NATO's defensive shield consists of ground troops with the task of stemming any Soviet attempt to overrun Europe quickly.

The sword is the retaliatory striking power of the West—nuclear or thermonuclear bombs delivered against the Soviet Union by manned aircraft or missiles.

U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's present military chief, once emphasized Europe's need for a strong defensive shield by observing that unless an aggression was soon halted, the Allies would be faced with the impossible task of separating the invaders from the invaded as targets for nuclear weapons.

At the moment, the shield appears thin and the sword, while still sharp, is losing some of its edge compared with the powerful and increasingly modern Communist forces arrayed against it.

A reporter's tour of NATO commands indicates that as matters now stand the Allies possibly could muster 250,000 men on the ground next to the Iron Curtain though not all would be mobile forces equipped with up-to-date arms.

The immediately available air cover for central Europe now consists of somewhere between 1,500 and 2,000 net aircraft of all types. The Allies also have a classified but apparently limited, missile counter-punch, mostly in the short range category.

This Allied force confronts a Soviet bloc in central Europe which Western sources say has 1½ million men close to the borders of the free world and a 23,000-all-jet air force, most of which is concentrated in the western Soviet Union and the satellites.

In addition, the Soviets are said to be building large numbers of missile launching sites for their 700-mile range M103 missiles and their 1,500-mile T2 intermediate range missiles in the satellite areas west of the U.S.S.R.

Although written into existence April 4, 1949, as a military organization NATO really began Jan. 7, 1951, with the arrival of Dwight D. Eisenhower, then a five-star general, to assume command of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe (SHAPE). The organization's assignment: to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the signatory nations.

Upon his first inspection tour Eisenhower found only seven skinning divisions and an air force of about 400 planes, mostly piston-engine types.

Meanwhile, the technology of warfare was undergoing a steady evolution. The age of the guided missile and the battle-field rocket had arrived. Each can carry atomic warheads.

In the dawning age of atom-toting missiles and rockets, the need for armies to increase their mobility and dispersion likewise increased. The day of the foot soldier, fighting in mass, was ending.

The passing years, however, have seen some technical and logistical improvements in the military picture.

When NATO was born the aircraft detection radar operated 40 hours a week. Now the radar network scans the Iron Curtain around the clock. It still has a short range, reaching only to the Soviet border. But gaps in the network have been plugged.

Once it took SHAPE commanders eight hours to reach a subordinate command. Now a radio and telephone system provides immediate contact.

A spiderweb of supply dumps containing a 90-day stockpile of combat needs has come into being. About 2,000 miles of a projected 3,600 mile gas and oil pipeline now exists.

All these developments, however urgently needed, do not in themselves defend central Europe, which is the heart of NATO.

Occupational Hazard

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—An automobile salesman was dismayed when a purchaser listed his profession as "killer." It turned out he was just that at a nearby pork packing plant.

GORED BULLFIGHTER IMPROVES—Famed Spanish bullfighter Luis Miguel Dominguez lies helpless (bottom) after he was gored by a bull in Valencia, Spain. He was competing with his brother-in-law Antonio Ordonez, for recognition as the world's leading "torero." At top, Dominguez is comforted by his wife, Lucia, at a hospital in Madrid. Close family friends predicted that "barring complications," the internationally-famed bullfighter would return to the ring in about a month.

HER HOME IS A SHOW PLACE—Kate Manx, wife of Hollywood writer-director Leslie Stevens, poses for a publicity still for his home-made movie, "Private Property." She stars in the film, which was shot entirely in and around their home in Hollywood. Stevens said he saved at least $500,000 "by keeping away from a sound stage." The picture will be released to regular theaters.

Big 4 Envoys Ready To End Conference

GENEVA (AP)—The chief Western Allies today acclaimed President Eisenhower's decision to exchange visits with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev as a step toward advancing Eastern-West prospects of peace.

Diplomats said the most immediate result of the Big Two agreement for top-level talks would be to put the Berlin crisis on ice.

They were particularly cheered by Eisenhower's determination to maintain a Western solid front on cold war issues by conferring with the government leaders of France, Britain and West Germany in advance of Khrushchev's visit to Washington.

The Washington-Moscow announcement came as the Big Four foreign ministers prepared to end their talks on the German crisis Wednesday and go home.

Negotiations have come almost to a standstill. The only East-West talk scheduled today was a luncheon meeting between Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. The Briton was to meet before and after with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Before talk arose of an invitation soon from President Eisenhower to Khrushchev, all the Allied delegations here were concerned over what Russia would do about West Berlin when efforts to reach an agreement finally collapsed.

Lloyd and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan see a Khrushchev-Eisenhower meeting as a step toward a Summit conference, which they still ardently desire. They apparently believe talks between the Soviet Premier and the U.S. President would open up prospects for agreement at the Summit on at least one or two

Judge Richard T. Cole told James L. Redmon, 32:

"You are as bad a criminal as I've ever seen in this court, either as a judge or as a prosecutor... a true criminal in every sense of the word."

A police cruiser was chasing Remon July 25 when it collided with another car at an intersection. Patrolman Leroy Warren, 41, was killed and another policeman was injured.

Judge Cole fined Redmon $1,250 and costs, sentenced him to 18 months in jail and suspended his driving rights for seven years.

Redmon was charged with reckless driving, drunken driving, driving while his license was under suspension and failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

In addition, the judge ruled Redmon must pay $600 and serve out a 73-day sentence imposed last year on charges he was driving while his license was under suspension and failure to stop at the scene of an accident. Redmon had received probation on the 1958 charges.

Police records show Redmon had been arrested 49 times previously.

U.S. Gambling Stamp Buyers Grow Scarce

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The number of $50-a-year federal gambling stamps issued by the Columbus office of the Internal Revenue Service has dwindled to lowest point on record. Only 10 have been issued for the tax year which began July 1.

When the tax was first levied about five years ago, 275 stamps were issued. Last year there were only 25.

Files of the Internal Revenue Service show two stamps were issued to residents of Lancaster, one to a Delaware resident and seven to residents of the metropolitan Columbus area. Stamps have been issued to:

'77 Sunset Strip Detective Survives Brush with Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Roger Smith passed unnoticed in the restaurant, though he was known by millions of movie and TV fans. Thirty pounds had dropped from his already slender frame, and his hair was close-cropped. But his spirits were bright, as any man's would be after returning from a brush with death.

He believed he was still in Chicago on a tour he had just completed. A doctor diagnosed his trouble as temporary amnesia, which he had suffered before in football at the University of Arizona. Rest was prescribed.

Roger is one of the new crop of stars created by television. He plays one of the slick sleuths of the hit show, "77 Sunset Strip." He also scored as Rosalind Russell's grown-up nephew in "Auntie Mame."

Life was full for Roger. He was making money, had a happy marriage with actress Victoria Shaw, and they were blessed with two young children.

A month ago he was leaving his house for the studio. His vision was impeded by a hi-fi set he was carrying, and he stumbled over a flower planter. As he fell, his chin hit the record player and his head jarred backward. His wife rushed out to find him dazed and helpless.

'77 Sunset Strip' Detective Survives Brush with Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roger Smith passed unnoticed in the restaurant, though he was known by millions of movie and TV fans. Thirty pounds had dropped from his already slender frame, and his hair was close-cropped. But his spirits were bright, as any man's would be after returning from a brush with death.

Roger is one of the new crop of stars created by television. He plays one of the slick sleuths of the hit show, "77 Sunset Strip." He also scored as Rosalind Russell's grown-up nephew in "Auntie Mame."

Life was full for Roger. He was making money, had a happy marriage with actress Victoria Shaw, and they were blessed with two young children.

A month ago he was leaving his house for the studio. His vision was impeded by a hi-fi set he was carrying, and he stumbled over a flower planter. As he fell, his chin hit the record player and his head jarred backward. His wife rushed out to find him dazed and helpless.

He believed he was still in Chicago on a tour he had just completed. A doctor diagnosed his trouble as temporary amnesia, which he had suffered before in football at the University of Arizona. Rest was prescribed.

But he began suffering massive headaches and had to be hospitalized. This time he was said to have had strained neck ligaments, and he was placed in traction. Pain tortured him for five days, then vanished. He returned home, painted his garage and did some interviews. But the pain returned.

Now he was told he had migraine headaches and was given sedatives and tranquilizers.

"I could think about nothing but the pain," he recalled. "One night I lost the power to speak. My arm became paralyzed, then my tongue and my cheek. The pain was so great I went off my rocker. I rolled on the floor, rocking my head from side to side, trying to find some comfort."

They said Roger had a nervous breakdown and sent him to a private sanitarium. He prescribed a two-week treatment. But his wife felt he needed more help, and she brought in a psychiatrist-neurologist. He recognized Roger's trouble as physical and tested him at another hospital. The tests revealed a massive blood clot.

Five ounces of blood, discharged from veins by the impact of the fall, were drained from Roger's skull. For four days he was on the critical list; he remained paralyzed and speechless and had no will to live. His wife stayed with him constantly, trying with all her skill as an actress to cheer him.

On the fourth day he smiled at her and she knew he was going to be all right.

Roger is eager to get back to work as soon as he adds some hair and a few pounds.

Buckingham Palace Guard Suspended

In Gate Hassle

LONDON (AP)—A scarlet-coated Buckingham Palace guard—normally the last word in British military propriety—was confined to barracks today.

A woman tourist complained he kicked her while executing a smart patrol outside the palace gates Sunday night.

Police declined to name the woman or the member of the elite Coldstream Guards. One British paper, naming no names, said the woman tourist is an American.

One off-duty guardsman said the guard snapped to attention and slammed his rifle butt on the ground—the signal that he was going to march off.

"As he marched off on patrol in front of the palace gates, he accidentally bumped into the woman. She got very annoyed."

The guardsman was ordered confined to his barracks for 10 days.

DiSalle Signs Bill Removing Pension Ceiling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle signed into law today a legislative enactment removing the $65 monthly ceiling on pensions for the needy aged and blind.

He described the measure as one of the most progressive acts taken by the 103rd General Assembly.

The governor said the new law makes it possible for Ohio to meet the needs of the aged and blind 100 per cent.

Ohio now has 86,000 old age pensioners and about 37,000 needy blind on its roles.

The governor said only about 50 per cent of those on the roles had been receiving their full requirements for food, clothing and shelter.

Estimated cost of increased care under the new program will run $21,267,000 over a two-year period. He said the federal government would contribute $9,267,000 of the additional expense.

The governor also signed bills banning new licenses for 14 and 15-year-old motor scooter operators, creating a college scholarship fund, and establishing a Racing Commission of five members. He also signed a 97 million dollar capital improvements law, but withheld his signature from a measure appropriating a million dollars to pay claims against the state. The governor said he wanted to examine some of the claims.

Altogether, the governor signed 62 measures over the weekend.

The Legislature will return Aug. 14 to consider any vetoes and take final adjournment.

Installment Debt Total in June Up By $452 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outstanding consumer installment debt increased by $452 million dollars in June, after adjustment for seasonal influences. The increase was in line with the advance of the preceding month and pushed total installment debt to $35,810,000,000.

Announcing this during the weekend, the Federal Reserve Board said both extensions of new installment credit and repayment of old debts continued close to peak rates.

During the first half of 1959, it said, outstanding installment credit increased by nearly $2,400,000—close to the peak level recorded in the first half of 1955.

Put Spotlight on Inflation

The New York Chamber of Commerce, taking issue with the doctrine that continuing inflation may be desirable and necessary to increase the nation's rate of economic growth, is sponsoring a seven-point program in an effort to combat the constant lessening of the buying power of the dollar.

The chamber says the chief urgency is to encourage saving. Without a continuing high level of saving, there will be a loss in investment in productive enterprise. That would slow economic growth.

New York chamber members offer these ideas:

Rigorous control of all government spending to achieve balanced budgets. Consumer resistance, through a more determined search for values when prices are out of line. A hard credit policy in booming business times. Revision of the tax structure to encourage saving and investment.

A halt to government policies that tend to restrict markets and increase costs. An amendment to the Employment Act of 1946 declaring the federal government's firm intention of maintaining a stable dollar. Greater responsibility in collective bargaining by both labor and management.

An additional point is made that persistent inflation certainly will compel American business to price itself out of world markets with a consequent shrinking of the domestic economy.

The chamber says that all that is needed to control inflation is the awareness of the American people that creeping inflation will lead to galloping inflation.

That is evident. It is equally evident that with strident voices raised in both inflation and anti-inflation camps, the people have not as yet decided one way or the other.

Young Men Are 'Impossible'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Young men today are impossible," said Elaine Malbin, the tiny spitfire of opera.

Miss Malbin has a problem. She is young and pretty and as vibrantly alive as a violin string. She has smoldering eyes the color of autumn leaves.

She has one of the best lyric soprano voices in the land. She makes up to $75,000 a year.

But she has a problem. It is the same problem faced by millions of other career women her age—finding the right guy.

The public never thinks the feminine stars of the entertainment world have many dating woes. But they do. They have plenty.

The very gifts that make them famous turn out in a way to be a reverse curse. They scare away many men.

"That's part of my trouble," said Elaine ruefully.

"Of course, it's partly my fault too. I'm afraid I can't be attracted to just an ordinary guy. I wearies sometimes of the exacting discipline of opera, particularly since the said it is financially far less rewarding than television or the supper club circuit.

She still practices three hours every day.

"But the hardest thing to me is that I have to live in accord with the demands of my vocal art," she said.

"It means I can't talk as much as I want to; smoke at all; or stay up late at night."

"I've worked very hard and long. I've worked and watched the world go by. Now I feel I want to see more of the world—and watch the world go by."

"I never regret what I've done, and I don't want to live to regret what I have not done. I'm very stormy, and I guess I like stormy people who are tremendous workers."

She paused, brooding. Asked if there was anything else she wanted to say, the little girl with the big fine voice smiled and said: "Help!"

Brooklyn-born Miss Malbin started singing at 11, made her debut here at the age of 14. She wears sometimes of the exact-

They did to a certain extent. But he fought them tooth and nail and the Russians discovered that they were not dealing with namby-pamby Westerners who fear war more than life itself.

Both Vice President Nixon and Adm. Rickover told them where they got off when they tried to cover up or change the rules or play the usual babyish tricks which seem so important to Russians and make them not feared but distrusted throughout the world.

They discovered that Americans are not easily pushed around. They can be generous but not suckers. Nixon exacted as much as he could out of the agreements concerning these visits. And it has all been beneficial to this country.

Fundamentally, the reasons for the visits of Mikoyan, Kozlov and Nixon are identical. The United States and Soviet Russia have, for a year, been close to war—on the brink, as John Foster Dulles put it. Neither side wants war. The objective is to use psychological steps to minimize the prospect of war. Such a program could be worked out without complication except that the Russians like tricks. They are, after all, a nation of chess players.

3. Whereas both Mikoyan and Kozlov, while they were in the United States, saw everything they wanted to see, the Russians tried to limit Nixon's visit.

Also, it was the first time he had experienced such gathering and he either had to face the great men in awe or project himself as a kid showing off before his elders. He did the latter and President Eisenhower quite naturally felt that he would try to avoid such an unpleasant and meaningless experience.

Khrushchev, however, resents the personal ostracism by his equals over the world and is pressing the point with all the propagandistic and diplomatic machinery at his control.

It is probably true of Khrushchev, as it was of Stalin, that Great Britain and France play a small role in his calculations. The United States looms large. Therefore, a state visit to the United States seems to be the proposal that grows out of the Nixon visit. If such a visit should eventuate, Khrushchev would have to behave properly or he will do great damage.

2. Nixon has handled himself in Soviet Russia with rare skill. He showed no fear of crowds; he exhibited unusual dexterity in impromptu debate; he turned the peace propaganda wheel into an American instrument; he posseses none of the stuffed-shirt qualities which foreigners expect from American officials.

Enormous numbers of Russians had an opportunity to see him and the general report is that they liked him. Whereas the Russian propaganda machine was at work to trip him into anger or error, he avoided or rather evaded all their little tricks, including the bum cement they used on the American Fair buildings.

It takes a special kind of personality to keep one's temper without losing one's dignity—Nixon apparently has it, or has trained himself to meet this type of situation.

The result of this is a different picture of an American than has appeared in the literature and cartoons in Russia. Here is no fat capitalist with a huge cigar in his mouth, green dollars falling out of his pockets, demanding war for his own profits. Here is a young-looking proletarian, the son of a grocer, second man in the country, asking for peace. It unquestionably will lessen the Russian people's fears of the United States.

3. Whereas both Mikoyan and Kozlov, while they were in the United States, saw everything they wanted to see, the Russians tried to limit Nixon's visit.

However, Khrushchev was then competing with Bulganin for leadership. He actually barged into that conference, the official delegate being Bulganin. Also, he had not yet broken the power of Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich and had plenty of opposition in Moscow. He posed a role and got away with it, but he spoiled the chance for further conferences.

Also, it was the first time he had experienced such gathering and he either had to face the great men in awe or project himself as a kid showing off before his elders. He did the latter and President Eisenhower quite naturally felt that he would try to avoid such an unpleasant and meaningless experience.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—How high is up? Or when is a summit conference not a summit conference?

No matter what they're called — and they are not being called summit conferences — the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev get both men off a hook, for a while.

Yet, as of now, Khrushchev is away ahead on points in his duel with Eisenhower over Berlin where he precipitated a crisis which he has never let subside. He knows, and Eisenhower knows, he has the United States on a tough spot.

As a result of all he has done, he is getting exactly what he wanted: a personal meeting with Eisenhower.

It seems safe to say that if Khrushchev hadn't caused the Berlin crisis, and refused to budge an inch, Eisenhower wouldn't be asking him to Washington in September.

The dictionary describes a summit as the highest point. Since Eisenhower and Khrushchev are the top men in their governments, no meeting between Americans and Russians could be any more of a summit than this one.

Still, Eisenhower doesn't call Khrushchev's visit here and his later visit with him in Moscow a summit meeting. He says they will have "informal talks...which will afford an opportunity for an exchange of views about problems of mutual interest."

Actually, the two men can reach understandings on their problems without signing formal papers. That could be done later — at a meeting officially billed as the summit — with Britain and France sitting in.

Whatever Eisenhower works out with Khrushchev will probably be acceptable to the Allies. He's making it plain he won't do anything behind their backs.

The Western alliance might have broken up if Eisenhower had let the Russians shut off Western access to West Berlin, as they had threatened to do, indirectly. So he couldn't afford to back down. Yet, if he called Khrushchev's hand and tried to run a blockade, the shooting might start.

For both men this ugly dilemma may be solved in their talks. If not, at least the talks will have postponed the showdown for some months.

Eisenhower is saved from embarrassment in another way, since the meetings with Khrushchev will not bear the title of summit.

He had repeatedly refused to meet the Soviet leader at the summit unless the foreign ministers of Western radar would make a mass airlift very difficult. The Reds didn't interfere with the air transport in 1948.

And Western troops, overwhelmingly outnumbered by the Russians, admittedly would be no match for them on the ground.

HAIRCUT AT TWO WEEKS — Charles Leland Strawser, 13 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strawser, 154 Hayward Ave., is seen receiving his first haircut in Merriman's Barber Shop, 158 W. Main St. Young Charles was born with a fine head of thick hair, curly black hair, which his mother, Fannie May, says is getting thicker and will probably stay. The child is being held by his mother and Neil L. Merriman, 145 Fairview Ave., is proceeding to clip his youngest customer ever. His hair covered his ears and was down to the last crease on his neck. He was born at Berger Hospital, weighing nearly eight lbs. He is the 10th child born to the Strawders, who have eight at home. Charles is the third boy. Mrs. Strawser said all her children had considerable hair at birth but not like young Charles. Mr. and Mrs. Strawser were married Aug. 29, 1936. He is an employee of W. J. ## Reider Named To PUOC Seat By Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle named Robert Reider, Port Clinton publisher and former state representative, as a member of the Public Utilities Commission today.

Reider will serve out the 18-months remaining in the six-year term of Edward J. Kenealy of Cleveland. DiSalle recently appointed Kenealy to the six-year term of Ralph A. Winter of Lodi. Winter's appointment expired Feb. 1, but he continued to serve.

DiSalle swore in Kenealy as chairman of the three-member commission today.

Kenealy and Reider are Democrats. Their salaries will be $16,000 a year.

Everett H. Krueger Jr. of Cleveland, former chairman, will remain as a member of the commission. Krueger and Winter are Republicans.

DiSalle appointed Reider after he discovered that the state constitution makes it impossible for State Rep. Frances McGovern, Akron Democrat, to take the post.

The constitution prevents a legislator from serving in a newly-created post, or one in which the salary is increased, for one year after expiration of the term of the lawmaker in the Legislature taking that action.

Miss McGovern served in the session nearly three years ago that increased the pay of Utilities Commission members from $10,000 to $16,000 a year.

DiSalle said it would have been possible to circumvent the constitution and appoint Miss McGovern.

Crow Tries New Legal Maneuver

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — J. Harvey Crow of Urbana has asked the Ohio Supreme Court for an order requiring Chief Justice Carl W. Weygant to hear evidence on an affidavit of bias and prejudice against a Fayette County judge.

Crow said Weygant last week dismissed the affidavit without hearing the evidence.

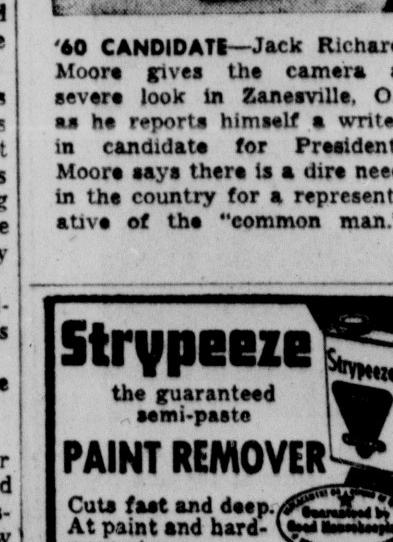

The affidavit named Common Pleas Judge John P. Case of Fayette County. It was filed to prevent Case from hearing Crow's motion to be made a party in two damage suits filed in Washington Court House.

In dismissing the affidavit, Weygant said Crow could not file it because he had been disbarred as an attorney and was not a party in the damage suits.

ern, but he feels that should not be done.

"She will receive the first appointment to a vacancy which will occur when there will be no question of her eligibility," the governor said. He added that would be any time after next Dec. 31.

Even Officer Tom Combs looks small beside Butler. It is said that Butler grabbed $27 from atop the cash register in Sakamoto's grocery and lit out. Sakamoto gave chase and caught Butler in a bar nearby, and "arrested" him and "held" him for Officer Combs' arrival.

She finds the current crop of American young men pretty dull company—even "impossible."

Both Vice President Nixon and Adm. Rickover told them where they got off when they tried to cover up or change the rules or play the usual babyish tricks which seem so important to Russians and make them not feared but distrusted throughout the world.

They discovered that Americans are not easily pushed around. They can be generous but not suckers. Nixon exacted as much as he could out of the agreements concerning these visits. And it has all been beneficial to this country.

Fundamentally, the reasons for the visits of Mikoyan, Kozlov and Nixon are identical. The United States and Soviet Russia have, for a year, been close to war—on the brink, as John Foster Dulles put it. Neither side wants war. The objective is to use psychological steps to minimize the prospect of war. Such a program could be worked out without complication except that the Russians like tricks. They are, after all, a nation of chess players.

It takes a special kind of personality to keep one's dignity—Nixon apparently has it, or has trained himself to meet this type of situation.

The result of this is a different picture of an American than has appeared in the literature and cartoons in Russia. Here is no fat capitalist with a huge cigar in his mouth, green dollars falling out of his pockets, demanding war for his own profits. Here is a young-looking proletarian, the son of a grocer, second man in the country, asking for peace. It unquestionably will lessen the Russian people's fears of the United States.

3. Whereas both Mikoyan and Kozlov, while they were in the United States, saw everything they wanted to see, the Russians tried to limit Nixon's visit.

They did to a certain extent. But he fought them tooth and nail and the Russians discovered that they were not dealing with namby-pamby Westerners who war more than life itself.

Eisenhower Decision Draws Opposition from Indiana GOP Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's decision to exchange visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev drew generally favorable—some highly enthusiastic—reaction today from members of Congress.

But approval was not unanimous. Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) protested that "it looks like we're again being taken in by the Russians."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas applauded the President's decision.

"I believe that this is a type of exchange which could do much for the whole world," he told the Senate.

Johnson said he had been briefed by a White House aide before Eisenhower's announcement and he relayed his own views to the President at that time.

The Senate Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said the exchange of visits, if successful, could "enshrine the President as the boldest and most determined peacemaker in many generations."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said he knows of no better way to impress Khrushchev than to "let him see for himself our unity, our strength and determination and our peaceful purposes."

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, applauded the exchange of visits but cautioned against expecting too much from them.

"Such exchange visits help the Russian leaders to understand us and help Americans to understand the Soviet Union," Fulbright said.

Capehart told reporters: "It looks like we're again being taken in by the Russians. This time it's a Republican administration. Before, it was the Democrats. I see nothing the Russians have done to warrant this all-out friendliness."

"In the past we've refused to invite dictators who were friendly to us — Peron, Tito and Franco. Now we've invited the biggest dictator of all here."

Capehart said he is not opposed to visits as such, but to "all the fanfare" involved in today's announcement.

Ohio Senator Says Army Pressures For Nike Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army was accused today by Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) of pressuring congressmen to continue to provide what he called worthless Nike - Hercules missile installations around American cities.

Himself a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves, Young said the Nike - Hercules have such short range that even if they hit an enemy missile with a nuclear warhead the loss of life from fallout would be terrifying.

"Army personnel have a real obligation to defend our country instead of seeking to promote their own branch of the service," Young said in a letter to constituents.

Ohio alone, he said, has about 55 Nikes. He said the improved Nike - Bomarc, when operational, would do the job because the effective range will be 400 miles against the 75 mile range of the Hercules.

4 Persons Die In Head-on Crash In Jackson Area

JACKSON, Ohio (AP) — Two cars collided head-on near here Monday night and killed three men and a woman, the Highway Patrol reported.

Patrolmen identified the victims as Raymond E. Tomlin, 25, and Randall M. Bright, 32, both of Detroit, Mich.; Donnie R. Shuler, 24, of Dayton, and Nina M. Schmidt, 31, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Only survivor of the crash was Leo E. Hall, 41, of Columbus, who was reported in critical condition in Holzer Hospital, Gallipolis.

Patrolmen said a car driven by Tomlin, with Bright and Shuler as passengers, collided with an auto operated by Miss Schmidt on two-lane U.S. 35 about six miles south of here. Hall was in the Schmidt car.

Toledo Elevator Hit By $200,000 Blaze

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused by a fire Monday that destroyed three buildings in East Toledo leased by the Andersons, a grain elevator firm.

Fire Chief Arnold Papenhausen, who estimated the damage, said the fire apparently originated from sparks caused by friction when a conveyor belt slipped from its rollers as grain was being unloaded from a railroad car.

Khrushchev Taking Calculated Risk

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

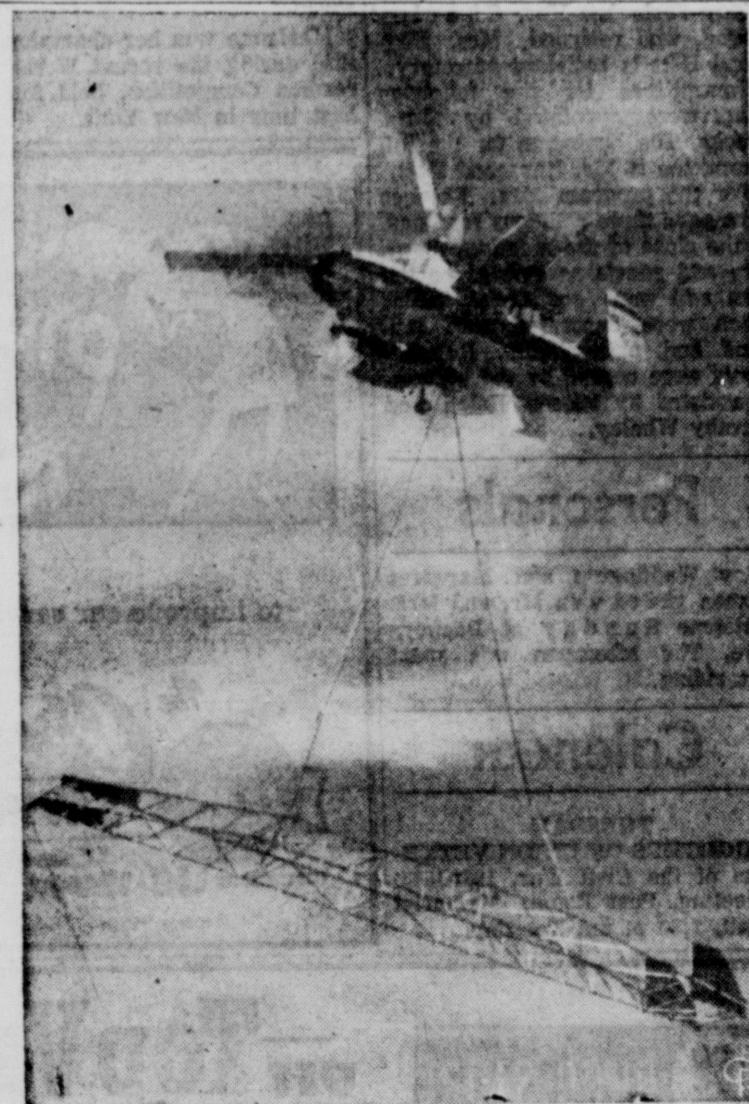

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is taking a calculated risk in accepting an invitation to visit the United States.

His exchange of visits with President Eisenhower will permit an unusual calm to settle over the main arenas of the cold war for a couple of months. But there is no reason to suppose that peace has broken out.

Khrushchev has long indicated he badly wanted the invitation to America. He maneuvered industriously to get it. But why was he so eager?

Khrushchev's projected few days in Washington and President Eisenhower's in Moscow will be in effect a meeting at the summit, a two-sided meeting with other countries on the outside.

The Western Allies are being reassured and are making noises like they are welcoming the exchange. By the time Khrushchev gets through, they possibly will be wondering what really went on behind closed doors. The idea that Khrushchev is thinking along such lines cannot be discarded, for he is known to have entertained a notion of splitting the Allies by hinting at a possible two-way deal

FLYING CRANE — The Fairey Rotodyne demonstrates at Maidenhead, England, how it can lift a 100-foot section of a bridge. The section is 10 feet wide, seven high. The craft demonstrated that it could lift the heavy load, hover with it, and place it accurately on previously designated spot.

SLAIN BY BERSERK FATHER — James (Scottie) McBeth, 8, and his sister Kathleen, 6, were shot to death by their 47-year-old father, James McBeth, who apparently went berserk, shot and killed the children and the family cat, then pumped a bullet into his own stomach and bled to death. The bodies were discovered in the family's rural home in Withamsville, O., 12 miles east of Cincinnati, by the wife and mother when she returned home about 5 a.m. from her job as an office worker in Cincinnati Children's hospital.

Kiwanis To Sponsor Heifer Chain

The Circleville Kiwanis Club today announced the start of its 4-H Heifer Chain.

The local club will give a deserving Pickaway County 4-H Club member a dairy calf to raise. If her first calf is a heifer, she will be presented to another 4-H member or prospective member to raise.

If her offspring is a bull, he will be sold and the profit will be put into a fund to purchase another heifer. In this manner a chain of livestock will be built up.

The Kiwanis Club is starting the project to aid and interest young people in 4-H club work. County 4-H advisors will recommend youth (boys or girls) in the county between the ages of 10 and 13 years-of-age to receive heifers.

ALL YOUNG PEOPLE interested in applying for the heifer may obtain application papers from the County Agricultural Extension Agent's booth, located in the Coliseum during the County Fair.

4-H advisors throughout the county will also have application papers. A committee of two Kiwanis members, one club advisor and one extension agent will select the heifer plan recipient based on interest in 4-H and dairy and on need for assistance.

The animal purchased will be purebred, with registration papers. The youth receiving the heifer must give proper care to the animal; furnish feed and all necessary supplies for raising the animal:

Pay all veterinary bills; breed animal at proper age; return first calf born from the animal; obtain registration papers for calf, if it is a heifer, and be an active 4-H member and show animal at the County Fair each year.

Supervision of the raising of the animal will be made by Kiwanians and by an advisor or extension agent. Managerial decisions will be made by the youth and parents with the assistance of an advisor if needed.

Application papers must be returned to their source as soon as possible. Members of the Kiwanis committee in charge of this project are: Robert Hadself, chairman, Forest Croman, Homer Reber, Hal Spencer, Robert Clark and H. K. Lanman.

Ohio Junior College Plans To Be Aired

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle will meet Wednesday with a group of prominent educators to discuss legislation authorizing creation of two-year junior colleges.

The governor said the state would be obligated to pay half the cost of building the colleges and one-third the cost of operating them. But he said no money is available for that purpose now.

Asked to attend the meeting were State Rep. Michael A. Sweeney (D-Cuyahoga), sponsor of the college bill; Dr. John Baker, president of Ohio University and chairman of the Governor's Commission on Education Beyond the High School; Dr. John Millett, president of Miami (Ohio) University; Dr. Terry Wickham, president of Heidelberg College and head of the Ohio College Assn.; Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction; and Ralph Besse, executive secretary of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. and chairman of the Cleveland Commission on Higher Education.

Ohio Gamblers Buying Fewer U.S. Stamps This Year

CLEVELAND (AP) — The sale in Ohio of $50 federal tax stamps, which the law says horse race bookies and other gamblers were required to have when the new fiscal year started July 1, is falling far behind the pace set last year.

The Internal Revenue Service reports only 56 stamps have been sold in the Cleveland District, where most of the stamp sales are concentrated, compared with 144 last year.

Throughout the state only about half as many stamps have been sold as were issued for the fiscal year ended June 30.

In the Columbus District, 10 stamps have been sold for the current fiscal year compared with 25 last year. The story is the same in the Cincinnati District, where sales for this fiscal year total 19 compared with 56 the previous year.

Stone Shaft in Field Crushes Greenville Tot

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A six-foot-high stone shaft, standing in a field here, toppled over Monday and crushed to death 6-year-old Debra Kay Schenewark. The girl and other children were playing around the shaft when it fell. It apparently had been loosened by recent rains.

Toledo Bans Autos from Downtown

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of potted plants, trees and shrubs were moved into a four-block area of downtown Toledo today. Automobiles were blocked out.

The newly created "mall" is intended to test during a 45-day period the extent to which downtown traffic snarls are hurting the business of downtown merchants.

Within the mall area which runs for two blocks on Adams St. and Marion Ave. and is bounded by St. Clair and Huron Sts., the pedestrian will be king. Because of the greenery and flowers, jaywalking will be a joy; and without automobile traffic, will hold no hazard.

Through eight archway entrances, pedestrians will enter the mall area. City officials would like them to get there by using buses and leaving automobiles at home.

Dedication of the temporary mall—which could be converted into a permanent one, if results warrant—is scheduled for 7 p.m., EST. Promoting the project is the Downtown Toledo Associates, a merchant group.

2 Springfield Plants Struck

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — about 400 employees, members of Local 500, United Auto Workers, struck Bauer Bros. Co. here today. The firm makes heavy machinery for the pulp and paper industry, and has two plants in the Springfield area.

The union said pensions, supplemental unemployment benefits, wages, seniority, insurance, night shift premiums, vacation pay, representation pay for union officials and inequities are involved.

The amount of the wage increase sought was not announced. The company said the average wage is about $2.40 an hour.

Negotiations have continued for about two months, and the contract expired right after midnight Saturday. The union said the strike vote was 229-81.

Khrushchev Taking Calculated Risk

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is taking a calculated risk in accepting an invitation to visit the United States.

By the time Khrushchev gets through, they possibly will be wondering what really went on behind closed doors. The idea that Khrushchev is thinking along such lines cannot be discounted, for he is known to have entertained a notion of splitting the Allies by hinting at a possible two-way deal of peace?

Red China is in no position to flirt with the idea of world peace. It has too far to go, straining every muscle to make its own revolution succeed. It needs an American enemy.

Coming on top of the obvious failure of the Big Four foreign ministers to agree on Berlin and Germany, the sudden outbreak of exuberant good will might be viewed as an unexpected, highly welcome ray of hope.

But the Berlin affair is working out as predicted by those familiar with Soviet ways. Khrushchev issued an ultimatum. To carry through on it would have been a grave risk. To back down would have been awkward. What better solution than to leave the whole matter up in the air while Khrushchev lumbers about the United States trying to look like a pigeon to keep the world in its place.

But there is some risk for Khrushchev himself. The same uneasiness he may seek to arouse among the Western Europeans also can be provoked among the Chinese Communists. A Moscow-Washington display of peace, friendship, and all's right with the world can hardly make Peiping sublimely happy.

If her offspring is a bull, he will be sold and the profit will be put into a fund to purchase another heifer. In this manner a chain of livestock will be built up.

MRS. THOMAS SCOTT ROOS

Miss Caroline Jane Kreisel Is Bride of Mr. Thomas Roos

Caroline Jane Kreisel, daughter of Mr. Forest Kreisel and the late Mrs. Esther Kreisel, Kingston, and Thomas Scott Roos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roos, Wauseon, were united in marriage at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, July 11, in the Kingston Methodist Church with the Rev. Gerald Krick officiating the double ring ceremony.

A candlelight service with palms, candelabras, and a single arrangement of white carnations in center with a kneeling bench completed the decoration of the church.

Mr. William Russell was organist and Mrs. William Russell, violinist. During the ceremony Gerald Krick sang the "Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and brother. She chose a gown designed by Vogue and fashioned by Mrs. Marshall Hoy, Wauseon. It featured a full flowing skirt of arched taffeta gathered at either side of front panel and across back and joined the fitted bodice at the waistline.

New Wrinkle; Try Pickled Mushrooms

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Want to be elegant the easy way? Then add an interesting extra—Creole cooks might call it a lagniappe—to the lunch or supper you're preparing for guests. The trick never fails.

The extra we've gone all out for recently is pickled mushrooms. We use canned mushrooms plus onion rings and a marinade, then into the refrigerator the combination goes overnight so flavors will have time to blend. You can keep this extra on hand for company that is invited or unexpected. And there's a dividend: if you and your friends are weight-watching, you'll be glad to know that this dish has few calories.

The pickled mushrooms taste delicious with so many meats—beef, lamb, veal, ham. Try them, too, with a baked stuffed fish. Americans have always welcomed spicy tidbits with their main course—witness our corn relishes, cranberry sauces, pickled pears and peaches. Now let this quickly-made condiment vie with the old familiar.

Here's another way to use the pickled mushrooms and onion rings. They make a salad of tossed greens irresistible! You don't even need a mixture of greens; we find that crisp romaine leaves alone taste wonderful with the pickled combination. But if your heart is set on adding other ingredients, we advise strips of pimento both for their flavor and bright color. We use a little of the spicy marinade along with olive oil, salt and freshly-ground pepper for the salad's dressing, but you won't need much dressing because the mushrooms and onions add a good deal of tang.

Try this salad with toasted cheese sandwiches for lunch or a snack supper. To make the latter, sandwich a slice of cheddar between two slices of white bread. Spread one side of each sandwich with soft butter and place, buttered side down, on a hot griddle or in a heavy hot skillet; toast until golden-brown; spread the top sides of the sandwiches with soft butter, turn and toast again. Cut each sandwich in four triangles and serve with the romaine and mushroom salad and you won't be disappointed.

PICKLED MUSHROOMS
Ingredients: 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup dry wine vinegar, 1 bay leaf, 1 tea-spoon salt, 1 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spices, 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms (drained), 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms (drained), 1/4 cup (1 small) thinly sliced onion (separated into rings). Method: Put sugar, vinegar, bay leaf, salt and pickling spices into a small saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; quickly bring to a boil. Remove from heat and add drained mushrooms and onion. Turn into a jar and cover tightly; refrigerate overnight.

Circleville Oil, Ralston Purina and 1st National Win

Ralston Purina won in extra innings over Herald, 10-8, First National clobbered Third National, 27-4, and Circleville Oil had an easy time in downing Lincoln Plastic, 20-10, in Little League play last night at Ted Lewis Park.

The Herald rallied to tie up the major league tilt in the bottom of the sixth inning at 5-5 only to lose out in the seventh inning.

Purina held a one run lead in the contest from the second stanza through the sixth. After The Herald tied up the game, Purina scored five runs in the top of the seventh on one hit, four walks and two hit batsmen.

The Herald came back with four straight singles to tally three runs, two short of a tie and three short of a victory. The win gave Purina

Robinson Sparkles in All-Star Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jammed thumb and a slump at the plate couldn't keep Frankie Robinson, a reluctant first baseman, from shining in the second All-Star game.

With only one hit in 23 tries for the Cincinnati Reds, he showed up for pre-game batting practice Monday saying:

"I'll snap out of it."

He was right. Entering the game in the fifth inning, he socked a home run his first time up and followed that with a pair of singles.

With second baseman Johnny Temple's leadoff double in the first inning, the Rhinelander accounted for four of the National League's six hits. The American League won, 5-3.

Robinson, a converted outfielder, doesn't think much of the first base post he was awarded at the state of the season.

His difficulty with the job showed up in the seventh inning when the catcher, Hal Smith, tried to pick off Nellie Fox of Chicago. The ball got past Robinson for an error.

But that kind of miff might be due partly to unfamiliarity with the man behind the plate. Robinson doesn't like the first sack job, but he has handled it well this season for the Reds.

The Oilers committed six errors to Plastic's three. Adams and Thompson each drove in five runs. Merle Bethel had two RBI's for Plastic.

TODAY'S ACTION finds three games on tap if the grounds permit after this morning's heavy rain. Ward's Market (3-1) faces Second National (0-2) at 5:30 p.m. on the little diamond.

Ward's will be out to avenge a first round defeat handed it, 20-9, by the Bankers. General Electric, leading the second round with a 2-0 slate, meets DuPont (1-1) at 5:30 p.m. on the softball diamond.

Final game of the night pits Elks (2-2) against Coca Cola (3-1) at 7:45 p.m. on the softball diamond. An Elks win would throw the majors into a three-way first place tie.

Patterson-Johansson Bout Appears Set for Sept. 22

NEW YORK (AP)—There was every indication today the Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson match would come off Sept. 22 as tentatively scheduled, but where it will be held and how the arrangements will be handled are in the vague category.

The two remaining directors of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. — Vincent Vellela and Irving Kahn—admittedly have no experience in fight promotion. Vellela says his interest primarily is in the finances. Kahn, as president of Teleprompter, Inc., is interested primarily in the ancillary rights including television, radio and movies.

This situation developed Monday when Bill Rosensohn, president of Rosensohn enterprises, severed all connection with the organization and said he would sell his one third interest for $75,000 to anyone who cared to buy.

Rosensohn's resignation came as an outgrowth of a feud with Vellela which came into the open last Friday. Vellela, who holds two thirds of the stock, elected Kahn as a third director of the enterprises. Kahn and Rosensohn have not been on the best of terms.

Rosensohn, front man and ostensively promoter of the first fight in June in which Johansson scored a knockout in the third round, said he had offered Vellela and Kahn a chance to buy his stock, or allow him to buy Vellela's stock for $150,000.

Vellela said he would not buy or sell without first going over the company's books.

New Pro Grid Loop To Rely on Rookies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Embryo American Football League claims it will shoot for the sparkling rookies and not raid its rival National Football League for material. Sponsors say simple mathematics will bring the rookies into their camp.

"We think we have an advantage over the NFL," Dallas franchise holder Lamar Hunt says.

"We can tell a boy it's no sense in signing with Pittsburgh, for example. For $8,000, say, he can sign with Dallas and be sure of making the team."

Hunt pointed out that each NFL club drafts 30 players (the number has been cut to 20 for the 1959 draft). Of the 30, about four or five make the grade.

Tribe Fears Nats Ready To Bust Loose

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you think the Cleveland Indians are happy about opening a four-game series tonight with the last-place Washington Senators?

Guess again. The reason: Washington has lost 16 in a row and every schoolboy has heard about the law of averages.

Before Washington lost its 16th, Cleveland Manager Leo Gordon said no team could possibly lose that many. Now he's changed his tune:

"We'll help Washington set a new record. We'll extend their losing streak to 20."

That's the modern record for successive losses. The Indians will open tonight with Jim Perry (6-3) on the mound against the Senators' Bill Fischer (8-6).

The Indians trail the first-place Chicago White Sox by three games and by four in the important "loss" column. Chicago has a 62-40 mark, while the Tribe is 60-44.

Gordon also may unveil his new lineup changes tonight. If he does, hot-hitting Tito Francona will shift from center field to first base and Woodie Held will take over in center. Vic Power will go from first to third base. George Strickland will be at shortstop and Billy Martin at second base.

Russ Nixon, with three hits in the second game Sunday, showed signs of breaking out of his season-long slump (.173 batting average) and will be behind the plate handling Perry.

Wings, Kings Are Feuding

Rochester and Havana may have begun a lively International League feud as a result of the shooting incident in Havana 10 days ago that caused a game to be suspended and the next day's game called off.

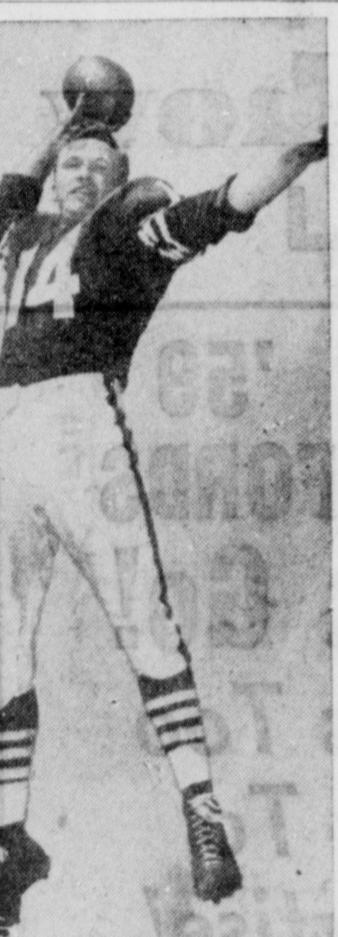

A Rochester and Havana player were hit by bullets in the wild shooting demonstration of Premier Fidel Castro's supporters July 25. When the Wings refused to play July 26 Havana officials were irked.

Now it is reported the Havana officials told the Cubans not to play the second game of a scheduled doubleheader with the Red Wings in Rochester tonight. No further comment has come from the Wings management, the Havana management or league president Frank Saughnessy's office.

Monday, the Cubans secured second place in the league with three victories over Toronto—3-0 in the completion of a suspended game of Sunday, and 5-4 and 5-2 in a scheduled twinbill.

Richmond defeated Buffalo 8-5. Rochester won its first game under Manager Clyde King 12-4 over Columbus, and Montreal won over Miami 6-5 in 11 innings.

Rochester had 15 hits, including Gene Green's homer, double and two singles, to blast Columbus' Ron Blackburn (0-1) and reliever Lynn Lovenguth.

SHAW TO GIANTS — George Shaw, Baltimore Colts quarterback, has been traded to the New York Giants for their first draft choice this year, and also a subsequent draft selection.

Shucks, Widower, 70, Says, He Doesn't Want to Remarry

NEW YORK (AP)—A 70-year-old Mississippi widower says he never did intend to marry the 40-year-old German widow.

The widow, Astrid Manns, arrived Monday from Germany with four of her five children, a car, and 13 pieces of luggage.

Lokie G. Lynch of Oxford, Miss., met her ship when it docked, but he told reporters that publicity about the two planning to marry was all wrong.

Research Shows Owls Are 'Stupid'

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite their scholarly appearance, owls are just plain stupid, says Roger S. Payne, a graduate biologist at Cornell University.

He stopped by the Bronx Zoo Monday, and his scorn for owls knew no bounds.

"They are even dumber than chickens, if that's possible," he said.

Payne bases his knowledge on two years of research with owls.

He said that in his laboratory he has seen owls take off from their perches and crash into the rafters time and time again. He had one owl that had to be forced for six months. When it finally did eat it attacked the man who fed it.

Nighttime Flight Is Fatal to Pair

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two men died in the crash of a single-engine private airplane near here late Monday night.

State Highway Patrolmen early today found the bodies of William Ellis Prouty, 41, of Rt. 4, Cambridge, and Russell Clark, 46, of Ambridge in the wreckage on a farm seven miles southeast of Zanesville.

The plane was piloted by Prouty, proprietor of the Casa Loma night club just east of Cambridge on U.S. 40.

Prouty also ran a service station east of Cambridge, and an attendant there said Prouty had taken Clark for a ride in his four-seater airplane about 10:30 p.m.

Through interpreters, she said only that she was here on a two-year visitors' permit, and that Lynch was very angry because "something was wrong in the newspapers."

Then she piled into a car, with all the children and most of the luggage, and with Lynch at the wheel, they drove off in the general direction of the South.

Lynch said Mrs. Manns' 16-year-old daughter came to America several weeks ago and has been acting as his housekeeper. She will have to go too, he said.

He said the only reason he met the ship was that he felt he had a "moral responsibility."

The bewildered Mrs. Manns cleared customs with the four children, Edith, 11; Klaus, 10; Methyl, 6, and Loohar, 8.
